

— THE SINGLE SOURCE OF TRUTH

THE STANDARD

The single source of truth. Everything we are, everything we stand for, and everything we are about to become.

WHY THIS DOCUMENT EXISTS

This is the ZeroTech Standard — the one place where the whole story lives.

ZeroTech has grown fast. From a single market in 2018 to every continent in under seven years. With that growth comes a risk: the story gets diluted. The brand gets explained ten different ways by ten different people. The thing that made ZeroTech matter gets lost in translation somewhere between Sydney, Nashville, and a dealer floor in Johannesburg.

This document fixes that. It brings together the three foundations of the brand - who we are, what we believe, and the people who built it - into a single, authoritative source. If you represent ZeroTech in any capacity, this is your reference. Read it. Know it. Use it with the same confidence the brand was built on.

HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

If you brief media, this is your script.

If you talk to dealers, this is your authority.

If you join the team, this is your onboarding.

If you ever wonder what ZeroTech would do — the answer is in here.

7 years in.

WE ARE JUST GETTING STARTED.

WHAT'S INSIDE

THE BRAND

What ZeroTech means, where it came from, and where it's going

THE PILLARS

The six foundations that define how ZeroTech thinks and behaves

THE PEOPLE

The founding team and core team who built the brand

2018

FOUNDED IN AUSTRALIA

15+

COUNTRIES
ACTIVE TODAY

1000+

SCOPES SOLD IN
UNDER 2 HOURS

60yr

OPTICAL
HERITAGE
BEHIND IT

 PART I

THE BRAND

WHAT WE ARE. WHO WE ARE. WHERE WE ARE GOING.

01 WHAT DOES ZEROTECH MEAN?

Zero is not the absence of something. It is the starting point of everything.

In shooting, your zero is the foundation. It is the single act that aligns your intention with your result. Before the hunt, before the shot, before anything - you zero. Without it, everything else is guesswork.

ZeroTech is named for that moment. Not the optic. Not the brand. The discipline. The deliberate act of a shooter who cares enough to get it right before the moment matters.

Tech is the commitment that follows. The engineering, the glass, the reticle systems, the turret precision, the technology - everything that ensures once your zero is set, it holds. In the Australian outback, on an Alaskan ridge, in mountainous backcountry, at a precision rifle match or in the African bush.

THE ONE-LINER ANSWER

"ZeroTech is named for the most important thing a shooter does before they ever pull the trigger - zeroing their firearm. We built the technology to make sure that zero holds, wherever you take it."

02 WHERE DO WE COME FROM?

ZeroTech's story begins before ZeroTech existed.

In 1945, James Watkins - an American soldier who enlisted at 18 following the bombing of Pearl Harbor - was discharged after serving in New Guinea and the Philippines, highly decorated as a recipient of the purple heart and bronze star. He moved to Australia, and in 1965 founded Tasco Sales Australia (TSA) to distribute US branded Tasco optics. Over the following six decades, TSA became the largest specialty optical distributor in the southern hemisphere, supplying precision optics across defence, commercial, and consumer markets.

Three generations of optical knowledge, manufacturing relationships, and field-tested expertise were built inside that business. That is the foundation ZeroTech was built on.

In 2017, a strategic shift by a major US brand reorganised Australian distribution, effectively removing TSA from the riflescope market they had helped build for fifty years. The response was not to retreat but to build something better.

THE RESPONSE WAS ZERO TECH

In 2018, ZeroTech Optics was founded - not by marketers, not by investors, but by people who had spent decades in the optical industry and knew exactly what the market needed and wasn't getting.

THE FOUNDING TEAM

Chris Watkins · Aaron Millard · Damien Perry · Ben Clarke · Will Godward · Nathan Dudney

The founders launched ZeroTech with one purpose: to give hunters, shooters, and outdoor enthusiasts access to genuinely excellent optics at a price that didn't require compromise.

03 WHAT HAVE WE BUILT?

ZeroTech launched in Australia in 2018 and was adopted faster than anyone expected. Within two years the brand had gone gained significant market share and expanded international. Today ZeroTech is active across every continent, with distribution partnerships in the Americas, Europe, the United Kingdom, Africa, and the South Pacific.

THE MILESTONES

- | | |
|-------------|---|
| 2018 | ZeroTech launches in Australia. Immediate dealer and consumer adoption. |
| 2020 | International expansion. Global distribution established. |
| 2021 | US market entry. Nashville/Columbia, TN office opened. |
| 2023 | Trace Advanced 5-30x56 launches. PRS community adoption globally. |
| 2024 | Rokslide/Shoot2Hunt collaboration. 1,000+ scopes sold in 2 hours. |
| 2025 | Thrive X and Trace X - the next generation launches. |

THE REACH TODAY

- Active on every continent
- Authorised dealer & distributor network across 15+ countries
- US HQ - Nashville, Tennessee
- Australian HQ - Sydney
- AAA Unconditional Lifetime Warranty - no paperwork, no proof of purchase, fully transferable. Any Owner, Any Problem, Always Covered
- Backed by 3 generations of optical manufacturing heritage

04 WHAT DOES ZEROTECH STAND FOR?

ZEROTECH. CONFIDENCE BUILT.

That is not a slogan. It is a summary of everything the brand does. Confidence is not given to a shooter by a brand. It is built through field time, through proven reliability, through a zero that holds day in and day out. ZeroTech's role is to be the optic that earns that confidence and keeps it while providing shooters with high utility features at a high value price point.

WHAT CONFIDENCE BUILT MEANS IN PRACTICE

PRODUCT

Every optic is designed, developed, and quality-assured in Australia & The United States.

WARRANTY

AAA Unconditional Lifetime Warranty. Any owner. Any problem. Always covered. No paperwork. No questions.

VALUE

We make high quality optics at a price point approachable by consumers at all levels of experience and budget.

COMMUNITY

Engineered by hunters and shooters that truly understand . We test what we sell. We listen to the people who use it.

SUPPORT

Best after-sales support in the business. Not a claim - a commitment.

05 WHO IS ZEROTECH FOR?

ZeroTech was built for the shooter who takes their craft seriously and shouldn't have to spend a fortune to be equipped properly. While not all of our customers are budget sensitive, we produce great products allowing them to be value sensitive.

PRIMARY AUDIENCES

01 HUNTERS

Backcountry, plains, dangerous game, deer, elk, bear, predator, bowhunting crossover

02 PRECISION RIFLE SHOOTERS

PRS, NRL, F-Class, long range

03 TACTICAL & DEFENCE USERS

04 COMPETITIVE SHOOTERS

3-gun, practical, IPSC

05 BIRDERS, SPOTTERS & OUTDOOR PROFESSIONALS

WHAT THEY ALL SHARE

- They demand performance without apology
- They research before they buy
- They value after-sales support as much as the product
- They are loyal to brands that earn it
- They are the people who introduced ZeroTech to everyone else

06 HOW TO TALK ABOUT ZEROTECH

Use this section in media appearances, podcast interviews, dealer conversations, and forum engagement. These are authorised, locked positions - not suggestions.

Q "WHAT DOES ZEROTECH MEAN?"

"ZeroTech is named for the act of zeroing your firearm - the fundamental step that aligns your optic with your rifle before you ever take a shot. That's what the Zero represents. The Tech is our commitment to make sure once that zero is set, it never moves. Our job is to build the optics, the reticles, and the reliability that hold your zero wherever you take them - from the range to the backcountry to the other side of the world."

Q "WHERE IS ZEROTECH FROM?"

"ZeroTech was founded in Australia in 2018 by Chris Watkins, but our roots go back to 1965. Our parent company TSA has been the largest optical distributor in the southern hemisphere for over sixty years, and that heritage - three generations of manufacturing knowledge - is what ZeroTech was built on. We design and quality-assure out of Australia and The United States.. And we're now active on every continent. Australian-born, globally proven."

HOW TO TALK ABOUT ZEROTECH

Q "WHY SHOULD I TRUST ZEROTECH OVER VORTEX, LEUPOLD, OR NIGHTFORCE?"

"Because we've earned it the same way they did - in the field, with real shooters, in real conditions. Our Trace Advanced is used by competitive PRS shooters on three continents. Our collaboration with Rokslide and Shoot2Hunt sold out in two hours because that community did their own testing and signed off on it. And our warranty is simple: any owner, any problem, always covered. No paperwork. No fine print. That's not a gimmick - it's who we are."

Q "I'VE NEVER HEARD OF ZEROTECH."

"That's changing fast. We launched in 2018 in Australia and built the number one optics brand on the continent in four years. We're now in fifteen countries and growing rapidly in the USA. The Rokslide community just put our collaboration scope through their own independent torture test and endorsed it - that's the kind of credibility you can't buy. Give us a look. The glass speaks for itself."

CONFIDENCE BUILT.

Lead with proof. Speak with authority. Let the product and the community do the talking.

07 WHAT IS ZERO TECH ABOUT TO ACHIEVE?

The brands that laughed at us in 2018 are paying attention now.

ZeroTech is entering its second phase. The foundation is set - the brand is credible, the community is loyal, the distribution is global. What comes next is the push into the upper tier of the world optics market.

PRODUCTS COMING

THRIVE X & TRACE X

The next generation of our core product families. Lighter, better finished, more technical, exceeding every predecessor.

MPVO PLATFORM

Medium Power Variable Optics entering a fast-growing category.

ENCLOSED EMITTER PISTOL OPTICS

Entering the fastest-growing segment in the US market.

TRACE ADV BINOCULARS

Premium ED glass at a price point that resets expectations.

MARKETS BEING TAKEN

USA

Scaling rapidly via direct-to-consumer, dealer network, distribution and community-led proof campaigns with increased brand awareness.

EUROPE

Continued growth with establish distribution and dealer base, servicing the discerning customer.

SOUTH AFRICA

International Distributor of the year recognised in 2026, hunting market expanding.

CANADA

Market infrastructure being on a healthy growth path.

THE BIGGER PICTURE

ZeroTech is not just trying to be the most affordable optics brand in the world. It is building towards being one of the most trusted. The warranty, the community relationships, the field-proven product development, and the Confidence Built positioning are all moving in the same direction. The brands that dominate the US market today - Vortex, Leupold, Nightforce, Trijicon - all took decades to build that trust. ZeroTech is doing it faster because the world is smaller now, communities are more powerful, and a brand that is genuinely good travels quickly. We are seven years in. We are just getting started.

08 THE NON-NEGOTIABLES

These are the things ZeroTech will always do and never compromise on. Say them with authority because they are unconditional.

-
- 01 AAA Unconditional Lifetime Warranty. Any owner. Any problem. Always covered. No paperwork. No receipt. Fully transferable. This is not marketing - it is policy.
-
- 02 Designed and quality-assured in Australia and The United States. Every product meets strict standards before it ships anywhere in the world.
-
- 03 We do not launch products we haven't tested in the field. Our team are hunters, competitors and sports shooters. The products go through real conditions before they go through a press release.
-
- 04 We back our dealers. We do not undercut them. Our dealer network is part of who we are, not a problem to be solved.
-
- 05 We listen to the community before we finalise a product. The Rokslide collaboration is the model - real shooters, real input, real trust.
-

CONFIDENCE BUILT.

 PART II

THE PILLARS

THE SIX FOUNDATIONS THAT DEFINE HOW ZERO TECH THINKS, SPEAKS, AND BEHAVES.

WHAT THESE PILLARS DO

Brand pillars are not marketing slogans. They are operating principles, the internal logic that determines what ZeroTech says, how it acts, and what it refuses to do. Every campaign, every product decision, every dealer conversation, and every warranty interaction should trace back to one or more of these six pillars.

They are built to be used under pressure. When a journalist asks a hard question, when a product gets a bad review, when a distributor pushes back on pricing - these pillars are the anchor. They do not change with market conditions, competitive noise, or short-term pressure.

6PILLARS

Product · Value · Protection ·
Channel · Proof · Conduct

1BRAND LINE

ZeroTech. Confidence Built.

7+YEARS

These pillars have been tested against

"These are not aspirations. They are descriptions of how we already operate, written down so every person in this organisation can use them with the same authority."

— CHRIS WATKINS, FOUNDER

THE SIX PILLARS

01

PRODUCT

Designed by Shooters, Built for the Field

02

VALUE

Excellence, Without the Logo Tax

03

PROTECTION

Backed for Life, No Conditions

04

CHANNEL

We Back the People Who Back Us

05

PROOF

Earned in the Field, Not Claimed in the Ad

06

CONDUCT

Quietly Confident, Always Accountable

01 PRODUCT

DESIGNED BY SHOOTERS, BUILT FOR THE FIELD

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

Every optic is designed around how it actually gets used, then proven in real conditions before it ships - designed and tested in Australia and The United States by a team who hunt, compete, and shoot what they manufacture. The calls that matter are made by people who live in the use case.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Most optics are designed to a spec sheet and a price point. ZeroTech designs to a use case. The trade-offs that decide whether a scope is good in the field - reticle choice, turret feel, glass under low light, lens coatings, weight on a long carry, tracking under recoil - are made by people who will be on the other end of those decisions on a hunt or a stage. That is the difference between a product that reads well and a product that works.

WHO MAKES THE CALL

- Designed and tested in Australia and The United States, built to exact specifications demanded by our team from real world expertise and experiences.
- Proven in real conditions before it ships - heat, recoil, dust, cold.
- Built by people who hunt dangerous game, chase deer, and run competition stages.
- The people specifying the product are the people who carry it.

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- Reticle and turret decisions are signed off by shooters, not drawn to match a competitor's catalogue.
- Product goes through field testing in conditions across the globe before a release date is set - not after.
- Feedback from the hunt and the competition line feeds straight back into the next revision.
- If it doesn't hold up where we use it and how we use it, it doesn't ship. The calendar does not override the field.

"We're not designing optics to hit sales targets in a boardroom with high margins. We're designing them for the harsh and demanding conditions we're going to be using them in next season when we get one shot."

— NATHAN DUDNEY, ZEROTECH USA

02 VALUE

EXCELLENCE, WITHOUT THE LOGO TAX

ZeroTech does not make cheap optics. It makes genuinely excellent optics and makes them accessible. The price reflects the glass and the engineering - never a premium charged for the name on the side. That is a deliberate position, and it sits between two crowds the brand refuses to join.

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

Genuinely excellent optics at a price that reflects what's in them - not what the badge thinks it's worth. Excellence made accessible, with no logo tax, high value driven optics at ever price point.

YOU PAY FOR

Glass quality, coatings, tracking accuracy, build, and the warranty behind it.

YOU DON'T PAY FOR

A brand name, a marketing budget loaded onto the retail price, or a logo that costs extra. No fluff, all product.

WHY THIS MATTERS

The optics market splits two ways. At the top, premium brands charge a real premium for the name - buyers pay for heritage, lifestyle and status as much as performance. At the bottom, cheap brands hit a price by cutting the things that matter like glass, coatings, tracking, support. ZeroTech rejects both. The product is built to compete on performance with optics that cost considerably more, and priced so the shooter keeps the difference. That is a value argument the customer can verify the first time they look through it.

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- Pricing is anchored to the cost of the bill of materials, the glass and engineering, not to what the market will tolerate for a name.
- We compare on performance against optics above our price and let the buyer make the call through the glass. True value driven performance.
- We never cut the things that matter - coatings, tracking, warranty - to hit a headline price.
- Discounting is disciplined. The everyday price is the honest price, not a markup waiting for a sale.

"Accessible doesn't mean cheap. It means we took the brand tax out and left the performance in."

— AARON MILLARD, MD

03 PROTECTION

BACKED FOR LIFE, NO CONDITIONS

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

The AAA Unconditional Lifetime Warranty and a real support team stand behind every product - any owner, any problem, fully transferable, no paperwork. When something goes wrong, we sort it directly.

THE SUPPORT CHAIN

AAA UNCONDITIONAL LIFETIME WARRANTY

Any owner · Any problem · Always covered. No paperwork · No proof of purchase required. Fully transferable · No exceptions.

A REAL SUPPORT TEAM

Real people, real response. Not a chatbot · Not a ticketing queue. We sort it. We don't send you back to the retailer.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Most brands sell confidence in the product. ZeroTech backs confidence in the whole ownership experience. A customer who buys a ZeroTech scope isn't just buying glass and turrets - they're buying a chain of accountability that runs from the dealer who recommended it, through a direct support team of real people, and is underwritten unconditionally for the life of the product. That chain does not break, and it does not depend on a receipt.

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- When a customer calls with a problem, the answer is never 'send it back to the retailer.' It is 'we'll sort it.'
- No paperwork, no proof of purchase. If it's a ZeroTech, it's covered.
- The warranty travels with the product. Buy a used ZeroTech and you're covered from day one.
- The warranty response is faster than most competitors' claims process - and handled by people, not a queue.

"Protection isn't a clause in a manual. It's a promise that whoever owns it, whatever goes wrong, we stand behind it."

— DAMIEN PERRY, HOD

04 CHANNEL

WE BACK THE PEOPLE WHO BACK US

Dealers built ZeroTech. The shops that backed the brand early before recognition, before the community had spoken they did it on trust. That trust has been honored every year since, and the business is structured to keep honouring it. ZeroTech is dealer-enabled, not dealer-versus-direct.

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

Dealers built ZeroTech, and the business is structured to protect them - margin held, MAP disciplined, never undercut online - while customers are served directly through community, content, and warranty. Dealer-enabled, not dealer-versus-direct.

WHAT BACKING DEALERS LOOKS LIKE STRUCTURALLY

- Margin is protected, and the brand does not undercut the channel online.
- MAP is held and enforced - pricing discipline applies to everyone, including us.
- Dealers get product training, sales tools, and marketing support, not just a catalogue.
- The brand credits the dealer network publicly for building ZeroTech at home. Marketing is driven towards the dealers.
- Direct effort goes into community, content, and warranty - never into undercutting the shop.

WHY THIS MATTERS

The direct-to-consumer trend has put dealer networks under pressure across the industry. ZeroTech's position is deliberate: the brand can grow its direct presence - community, content, warranty support - without undermining the dealers who remain the primary point of sale in a relationship-driven market. Those two things are not in conflict. A confident, well-supported dealer sells more, and a strong direct brand presence makes that dealer's job easier. They reinforce each other.

"We will always back the partners who helped build this brand at home. That's not sentiment - it's how the business is wired."

— AARON MILLARD, MD

05 PROOF

EARNED IN THE FIELD, NOT CLAIMED IN THE AD

ZeroTech doesn't lead with what it says about itself. It leads with proof, what others have proven, what the product proves, then supports it with the brand's own voice. In a market where every optics brand claims best-in-class, the brands that win long-term are the ones whose customers do the claiming.

1,000+

Scopes sold in under 2 hours —
Rokslide / Shoot2Hunt drop

2hr

Independent community test to sellout — not a marketing campaign

7+

Years of field results all over the world, dealer feedback, and community validation

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

We're shooters ourselves, and we let the people who use the product do the talking. Independent community testing and field results come first; brand claims come last, and only once the result is already on the board. Truly driven from the consumer.

THE PROOF HIERARCHY

- TIER 1 Independent community proof: Rokslide / Shoot2Hunt results. Unsolicited reviews from people who paid for the product.
- TIER 2 Field results: Competition placements and hunt footage. Real conditions, not range tests.
- TIER 3 Dealer feedback: Sell-through, reorder velocity, and the confidence dealers show selling it.
- TIER 4 Warranty data: Low claim rates and the transferable warranty as a trust signal at resale. Less than 1% globally.
- TIER 5 Brand claims: Stated last, and only when the tiers above already support them.

WHAT ZEROTECH NEVER DOES

- Claims performance without a field result to back it.
- Leads a campaign with a spec comparison against named competitors.
- Uses endorsements that didn't come from genuine product use.
- Launches before the product has been validated by people who shoot.

"The Rokslide result wasn't a marketing win. It was proof of concept for the whole brand - build the right product, let the right community test it."

— CHRIS WATKINS, FOUNDER

06 CONDUCT

QUIETLY CONFIDENT, ALWAYS ACCOUNTABLE

ZeroTech does not shout. It does not hype products it hasn't tested, make claims it can't back, or trade in competitive mudslinging. The personality is that of someone who knows the work is good and lets it speak first. Quiet confidence is earned restraint - not passivity.

THE ONE-LINE DEFINITION

We don't overhype, we don't mudsling, and we don't hide from a bad review. We own problems, fix them, and let the work carry the message. Restraint earned by a record - not silence by default.

HOW ZEROTECH HANDLES PRESSURE

WHEN A PRODUCT GETS A BAD REVIEW

Acknowledge it. Fix it. Move on. No hiding, no deflection. Take care of the customer.

WHEN A COMPETITOR ATTACKS

Let the product and community answer. No mudslinging, no counter-attack.

WHEN A CUSTOMER IS UNHAPPY

Own it immediately. Resolve it before it becomes a story. Turn a negative into a lifelong customer who is committed to the brand and part of the brand story.

THE LINE BETWEEN QUIET AND ABSENT

Quiet confidence does not mean going silent when it matters. ZeroTech will correct misinformation, defend its dealers, and stand publicly behind its warranty. Accountability requires presence - the brand is simply deliberate about when, how, and in what tone it shows up. The goal is never to win the argument. It's to keep the customer's confidence. Those are different things.

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- Bad reviews are answered openly and fixed - not buried or argued down.
- The brand does not chase engagement through controversy or take shots at competitors.
- Product launches happen when the product is ready, not when the calendar says so.
- Tone stays direct and measured, even under pressure. The work carries the message.

"We don't need to win the argument. We need to keep the customer's confidence. Those are different things."

— BEN CLARKE, CMO

THE SIX PILLARS AT A GLANCE

Built to be used in briefings, onboarding, and media prep. Each pillar can be stated in one line and defended in three.

#	PILLAR / TAGLINE	ONE-LINE DEFINITION
01	PRODUCT Designed by Shooters, Built for the Field	Designed and tested in Australia and The United States by people who hunt and compete; proven in real conditions before it ships.
02	VALUE Excellence, Without the Logo Tax	Genuinely excellent optics made accessible. Price reflects the glass and engineering, never the name.
03	PROTECTION Backed for Life, No Conditions	AAA Unconditional Lifetime Warranty and a real support team. Any owner, any problem, transferable, no paperwork.
04	CHANNEL We Back the People Who Back Us	Dealers built us. Margin held, MAP disciplined, never undercut online. Dealer-enabled, not dealer-versus-direct.
05	PROOF Earned in the Field, Not Claimed in the Ad	Independent testing and field results first; brand claims last, and only once the result is on the board.
06	CONDUCT Quietly Confident, Always Accountable	We don't overhype or mudsling, and we don't hide from a bad review. We own problems and let the work speak.

CONFIDENCE BUILT.

 PART III

THE PEOPLE

THE TEAM WHO BUILT THIS BRAND — AND ARE STILL BUILDING
IT.

FOUNDING TEAM

CHRIS WATKINS FOUNDER · ZEROTECH GLOBAL

Chris Watkins founded ZeroTech in the face of adversity. When a major US optical brand restructured its international distribution and left a void in TSA Outdoors - the largest specialty optical distributor in the southern hemisphere - Chris built ZeroTech to fill it, protecting the business and the people who'd made it successful. He is the driving force and voice behind the brand's optics: a career through every role, from the warehouse floor to CEO, has given him an instinct for exactly what the shooter needs, and the authority to turn that vision into market leaders. Firm in his guidance but generous with freedom, he lets his people flourish, and a lifelong love of the outdoors runs through everything ZeroTech builds.

AARON MILLARD MANAGING DIRECTOR · ZEROTECH GLOBAL

Aaron Millard is Managing Director of ZeroTech International, where, as part of the founding team, he developed the company's entire global program. He also leads one of Australia's oldest major wholesalers in optics, munitions, small arms and thermal imaging, and serves on the board of the Shooting Industry Foundation of Australia. Aaron has a rare ability to open markets and build hard earned relationships - grounded in negotiation, patent law and compliance, and a detailed skill for seeing the business perspective from the other side. A lifelong hunter, archer and fisherman, he stays close to the products and the community he serves.

BEN CLARKE CHIEF MARKETING OFFICER · ZEROTECH GLOBAL

Ben Clarke is Chief Marketing Officer and a founding team member of ZeroTech International, and the architect of its global branding. He created the Confidence Built positioning system and works across the full breadth of the business - marketing, strategy, legal, and product. Driven by guerrilla marketing by instinct, Ben builds challenger campaigns engineered to outmanoeuvre far larger competitors: the major brands may be the most recognized of the industry, but ZeroTech is the young brand building a new generation. He grounds his marketing in the field hunting dangerous game in the Northern Territory of Australia, deer across the globe, and big game in the American backcountry - personally testing the optics he puts his name behind.

FOUNDING TEAM

DAMIEN PERRY HEAD OF DESIGN · ZEROTECH GLOBAL

Damien Perry is a founding team member and the designer engineer behind ZeroTech's product identity — the look, feel, quality controls and design language that has defined the brand from day one, and that he holds consistent across every global market and product line. What makes him rare is that he owns both halves of the product: he doesn't just shape how an optic looks and functions, he understands the long-range dynamics and optical engineering that decide how it performs in the field. That command, of both form and function, is why a ZeroTech optic reads as a brand and delivers what the hunter or precision shooter actually demands.

NATHAN DUDNEY PRESIDENT · ZEROTECH USA

Nathan Dudney serves as President of ZeroTech Optics USA and investor, overseeing the company's expansion across North America. An avid outdoorsman, pilot, and entrepreneur, he brings a practical, customer-first approach to product development and brand growth, helping connect hunters and shooters with high-performance optics they can trust. With his successful history in manufacturing within the firearms industry, his focus on product production, stringent manufacturing principals and a desire provide value to the customer insure ZeroTech Optics meet demand the brand expects.

6 founders.

Decades in optics before day one. The people who started ZeroTech are still running it.

CORE TEAM

BRETT STEWART VICE PRESIDENT OF SALES · ZEROTECH USA

As Vice President of Sales at ZeroTech Optics USA, Brett Stewart leads all operational aspects of the company's North American business. He directs commercial strategy, sales and distribution networks, marketing and brand development, supply chain and inventory management, customer service, and financial performance for the U.S. market. Under his leadership, ZeroTech Optics USA continues to grow its footprint as a trusted name in Precision Optics.

WILL GODWARD

INTERNATIONAL SALES & DEVELOPMENT MANAGER – SPORT OPTICS · ZEROTECH INTERNATIONAL

Will Godward is International Sales & Development Manager – Sport Optics for ZeroTech Outdoors, bringing a unique combination of elite sporting experience, product knowledge and real-world field use. A former two-time Australian Olympian in rifle shooting, Will has spent much of his life behind precision optics and understands the importance of clarity, reliability and confidence in the field. He works closely across product development, sales strategy, retail support and international growth for ZeroTech, helping shape practical, reliable and high-performing optics for hunters, shooters, birdwatchers and outdoor users across Australia, New Zealand and international markets.

MACK WINZENBURG MARKETING MANAGER · ZEROTECH USA

Mack Winzenburg runs ZeroTech USA's marketing operation, driving the US brand story through film, community, and influencer strategy. He cultivated his foundation as media lead at Weatherby - one of the most storied names in American firearms - and brings that pedigree to every campaign. What sets him apart is that he doesn't direct the lifestyle from a desk: Mack is a backcountry hunter and filmmaker who lives in the field he's selling, so the credibility in his work is earned, not staged.

CORE TEAM

JAMES HEAD

INTERNATIONAL SALES MANAGER · ZEROTECH INTERNATIONAL

James Head manages International Sales for ZeroTech Optics, responsible for driving the company's international growth strategy and managing relationships with distributors, dealers, OEM partners, and key industry stakeholders across international markets. Drawing on a background of service in the Australian Army, with deployments in the Asian Pacific, Iraq and Afghanistan and extensive experience within the shooting, hunting, defence, and law enforcement sectors, James plays a key role in expanding ZeroTech's presence in civilian and professional markets.

CHRIS WOODROW

DIGITAL MARKETING MANAGER · ZEROTECH INTERNATIONAL

Chris Woodrow has an extensive background in the optics and outdoors industry in Australia, with over a decade of experience working for esteemed and high-end outdoors brands, and he remains highly integrated in the Australian outdoors industry. In his current role, he manages ZeroTech's marketing activity across the Australian and international market, including social media, EDM, dealer communications and campaign execution. Working closely with the greater marketing team and collaboratively with the wider marketing team to ensure global content stays on brand and in front of the right audiences.

JACK MUIR

DIGITAL MEDIA SPECIALIST · ZEROTECH INTERNATIONAL

Jack Muir runs ZeroTech International's social media and digital presence as a genuine practitioner, not a marketer looking in from the outside. A serious long-range and competitive shooter who engages targets at extreme distances, Jack is deeply versed in ballistics and optical performance, and years managing gun shops gave him a front-line read on what customers actually want to know. That's what makes his content land: he produces high-quality film that holds an audience because it speaks from real technical authority - building genuine trust in the brand, not just impressions.

— THE SINGLE SOURCE OF TRUTH —

CONFIDENCE BUILT.

We are seven years in. We are just getting started.

ZEROTECHOPTICS.COM · ZEROTECH.COM.AU · ZEROTECHOUTDOORS.COM.AU

The single source of truth. For authorised ZeroTech team use.